WV CENTER FOR CHILDREN'S JUSTICE HANDLE WITH CARE CONFERENCE

About the WV Center for Children's Justice

The WV Center for Children's Justice is a statewide trauma informed response to child maltreatment and children's exposure to violence. The Center is housed in the Crimes Against Children Unit of the WV State Police and is located at the Academy in Dunbar, WV. It is made up of the WV Children's Justice Task Force, the WV Drug Endangered Children Program, the Handle with Care Program and a committee looking at Human Trafficking.

The WV Center for Children's Justice Task Force

Membership: The West Virginia Children's Justice Task Force is a multi-disciplinary group, composed of volunteer representatives from law enforcement, the judiciary, prosecuting attorneys, defense attorneys, child advocates, Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA), health and mental health professionals, child protective services, developmental disabilities, and parent groups. The Task Force meets quarterly to plan and carry out its mission.

Mission: Child abuse and neglect are community problems requiring community solutions. The West Virginia Children's Justice Task Force, a multi-disciplinary body of public and private agencies and individuals, is committed to the protection of children. Our mission is to identify barriers to the successful resolution of child abuse and neglect issues; and to educate and advocate for change.

About the Conference

The WV Children's Justice Handle with Care Conference will focus on a trauma informed response to child maltreatment and children's exposure to violence. Our goal is to provide you with current information to better help you serve those in our communities who experience abuse and violence. Sessions will include topics on the investigation, prosecution, and treatment of child maltreatment and family violence.

Who Should Attend?

Law Enforcement, Child Protection Workers, Prosecutors, Medical Professionals, Mental Health Professionals, Treatment Providers, Courts, Probation/Parole, Corrections, Victim Advocates, Drug Court Personnel, Day Report, Teachers, CASAs, Youth Workers, Paramedics, EMTs, Social Workers, Foster Parents, and the Faith Community.

General Information

The goal of the WV Children's Justice Handle with Care Conference is to provide practical instruction, using current information, the newest ideas, and most successful intervention strategies to those professionals responsible for combating the many and varied forms of crimes against children.

The conference is conducted for the sole purpose of providing training to people who work in the multi-disciplinary field of child maltreatment. This includes governmental or non-profit agencies in the fields of law enforcement, prosecution, child protective services, social work, children's advocacy, therapy, and medicine who work directly with child victims of crime.

Tuesday morning will begin with a keynote followed by lunch on your own and two breakout sessions. Wednesday morning begins with an opening keynote followed by a breakout session, award luncheon, and two more breakout sessions. Thursday morning begins with two breakout sessions followed by a closing keynote. Seating will be on a first come, first serve basis in all the sessions.

The Adverse Childhood Experiences Study

October 11, 2016 10:00 am to 12:00 pm

Dr. Vincent Felitti

The Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) Study is a long term, in-depth analysis of 17,337 middle-aged, middle-class members of the Kaiser Permanente Medical Care Program, matching their current health status against 10 categories of adverse childhood experiences that occurred on average a half-century earlier. They found that: adverse childhood experiences are surprisingly common although typically concealed and unrecognized; they still have a profound effect 50 years later, although now transformed from psychosocial experience into organic disease and mental illness; and that adverse childhood experiences are the main determinant of the health and social well-being of the nation.

The Adverse Childhood Experiences Study thus has direct and important relevance to the practice of medicine and to the field of social planning. Its findings indicate that many of our more common public health and adult medical problems are the result of events and experiences present but not recognized in childhood. The ACE Study challenges, as needlessly superficial, the current conceptions of depression and addiction, showing them to have a very strong dose response relationship to antecedent life experiences.

Sexual Deviance in the New Millennium

October 12, 2016 9:00 am to 10:15 am

Dr. Lawrence J. Simons

Dr. Simons will offer a careful examination into the fantasy world of sexually deviant individuals. The underlying motivations of some of the most common and extraordinarily rare paraphilic behavior will be explored. He will examine the evolution of violent and non-violent sexual deviance, including but not limited to necrophilia, lust murder, sexual sadism, voyeurism, pedophilia, and so on, as well as the path toward criminal activity and its addictive processes through the internet.

Suffer from Burnout? Give them the F.I.N.G.E.R.

October 13, 2016 11:30 am to 1:00 pm

Mark Yarbrough

Mark Yarbrough, the author of "Suffer from BURNOUT? Give 'em the F.I.N.G.E.R.!" is someone who actually suffered from this debilitating ailment. Mr. Yarbrough was serving as an elected District Attorney when he suffered from burnout. Mr. Yarbrough will tell attendees what caused his burnout. More importantly, Mr. Yarbrough shares his F.I.N.G.E.R. philosophy that he used to overcome his burnout.

Pre-Conference Sessions—October 10, 2016

Youth Mental Health First Aid (YMHFA)

9:00 am to 5:00 pm

Youth Mental Health First Aid is an 8 hour course designed to teach parents, family members, caregivers, teachers, school staff, peers, neighbors, health and human services workers, and other caring citizens how to help an adolescent (age 12-18) who is experiencing a mental health or addictions challenge or is in crisis. Youth Mental Health First Aid is primarily designed for adults who regularly interact with young people. The course introduces common mental health challenges for youth, reviews typical adolescent development, and teaches a 5-step action plan for how to help young people in both crisis and non-crisis situations. Topics covered include anxiety, depression, substance use, disorders in which psychosis may occur, disruptive behavior disorders (including AD/HD), and eating disorders.

Trauma Focused—Cognitive Behavior Therapy Booster Shot!

1:30 pm to 5:00 pm

This advanced, TF-CBT learning opportunity is for therapists currently engaged in the TF-CBT supervision calls, as well as therapists previously trained in TF-CBT. The goal of this free workshop is to expand upon the current knowledge-base and share experiences from the field. This Booster shot will be facilitated by WV's favorite TF-CBT trainer, Kris Buffington.

WV ACE's Coalition Meeting

1:30 pm to 5:00 pm

The state ACE's Coalition was created in early 2016 to help mobilize work and collaboration around the Adverse Childhood Experiences Study (ACES) in West Virginia. "ACEs" comes from the CDC-Kaiser Adverse Childhood Experiences Study, a groundbreaking public health study that discovered that childhood trauma leads to the adult onset of chronic diseases, depression and other mental illness, violence and being a victim of violence. The ACEs Coalition seeks to advance the many exciting efforts emerging in West Virginia related to ACE's including trauma-informed education programs, the expanding "Handle with Care" project, collection and evaluation of ACE survey data from WV residents, and many others. Please join us for the fall meeting of the ACES Coalition and help us set the course for this new Coalition.

Handle with Care

1:30 pm to 5:00 pm

"Handle with Care" is an effort to help traumatized children learn. It connects Law Enforcement, Schools and Mental Health Providers in addressing issues that arise when children are traumatized. This preconference session will walk you through the process of getting Handle with Care started in your community.

Child Fatality Response Teams

1:30 pm to 5:00 pm

Professionals from a number of different agencies and disciplines become involved following an unexpected death of an infant or child. The coordination of these efforts is essential to a thorough investigation. Child Fatality Response Teams are intended to provide guidance, develop protocols, share specify unique information with the team, and create a body of information that will assist in the coroner's effort to accurately identify the cause and reasons for the death. This session will be a lecture/discussion on child fatalities with a follow up on how to start a Child Fatality Response team in West Virginia.

Breakout Sessions: A

Tuesday, October 11th – 1:15 pm - 2:45 pm

A1: Trauma and Treatment

Kristine Buffington

This session will give an overview of Trauma Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy as an effective treatment modality for in-school use in the treatment of children experiencing learning, behavioral, and relationship difficulties as a result of traumatic stress.

A2: Bruises, Burns and Bites: Abuse or Not?

Dr. Cathy Baldwin-Johnson

This session will review cutaneous (skin) manifestations of physical abuse. We will discuss the red flags from the medical history and exam that should increase concern for abuse, and tips to distinguish abusive injuries from accidents and medical conditions.

A3: The Cause and Effect of Child Exploitation

Sgt. David Eldridge

This session provides an introduction to and understanding of Internet Crimes Against Children and their impact on victims and families. Topics covered include an overview of online crimes against children, the West Virginia State Police's Crimes Against Children Unit (WVSP-CACU), the Internet Crimes Against Children (ICAC) Task Force and resources for professionals who deal with these types of crime.

A4: Child Fatality Investigations

Dr. Amy Hawes

This session will include a discussion of best practices for investigation of sudden infant death. Dr. Hawes will explain the use of standardized collection tools such as the "Sudden Unexplained Infant Death Reporting Form". There will be a presentation of case studies for potential unsafe sleep environments, as well as case studies and brief discussions of common findings in child abuse and Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome (NAS).

A5: Worker Safety: "Who's Got Your Back? You do!"

Cpl. Marlene Moore

You are your own best defense in your own safety. This session will help you help yourself be safer in the course of doing your job when conducting home visits. Preparing for the visit is as important as what you do on site. After this session; you will have more knowledge, as well as insight and confidence in how to handle yourself and your abilities to protect yourself on and off the job.

A6: Emerging Drug Trends

Sgt. Courtney Pero

Attendees will be provided information on synthetic cannabinoids, synthetic cathinones, and synthetic hallucinogens. Specific drug trends, legislation, and drug slang terms from across the country will be discussed. In addition, attendees will receive information on other trends (including Butane Hash Oil and THC extraction) as well as the resurgence of Heroin, GHB and other illicit substances. This session will include information on the abuse of these substances by juveniles themselves along with the potential for more incapacitated caregivers, which could result in more ignored, abused, and abandoned children.

Breakout Sessions: B

Tuesday, October 11th — 3:00 pm - 4:30 pm

B1: Self-Regulation & Learning for Victims of Trauma in Early Childhood

Suzan Mullane

This message brings hope: behavioral challenges can be mitigated with corrective strategies. This session will cover how trauma changes behavior and learning, the flight, flight or freeze syndrome, trauma and attachment disorder and how sensory motor integration activities can promote healing and learning. Ms. Mullane's session will benefit teachers, principals, social workers, parents, and therapists seeking practical interventions.

B2: Abusive Head Trauma

Dr. Joan Phillips with Katelyn Rake

This session will go beyond the basics of “shaken baby syndrome” to explain the injury process, making the diagnosis, and key controversies in the diagnosis of abusive head trauma.

B3: Drug Endangered Children

Sgt. Courtney Pero

Drug Endangered Children are part of a very large and growing population of children whose lives have been seriously and negatively impacted by dangerous drugs. Ignored, abused, and abandoned—these are some of the chronic conditions experienced by children raised in environments where there is illegal drug use, manufacturing, cultivation, and distribution. This session will look at overcoming the challenges in aligning systems responsible for preventing, intervening, and treating these issues to achieve common outcomes.

B4: The Intact Hymen and Other Myths about Child Sexual Abuse

Dr. Cathy Baldwin-Johnson

This session will focus on dispelling common misperceptions about child sexual abuse. We will discuss the ways in which children tell us (or not) about their abuse, the how and why of exams, and what we expect to find (or not) in the medical evaluation process.

B5: CASA and Fostering Futures

Kim Runyon Wilds and Traci Busch

In this session, participants will gain knowledge on the Court Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) program and how CASA can be an important partner to professionals working on child abuse and neglect civil court cases. Presenters will discuss how CASA volunteers and staff advocate for children in “regular” CASA cases, and for older youth in CASA's Fostering Futures program.

B6: Medication Assisted Treatment

Dr. Carl Rollynn Sullivan

This session will focus on the disease of Opioid Use Disorder along with the medications and therapy used in successful treatment. Specifically, there will be a discussion of the history of WV's opioid epidemic and the medications buprenorphine, methadone, and naltrexone as agents to assist in recovery from active OUD.

C1: Law Enforcement: Trauma Informed Response

Chad Napier and Joyce Yedlosky

Children are influenced by how law enforcement officers respond to them at the scene and a well-informed, sensitive response will benefit children. The session will walk attendees through an effective Law Enforcement response which includes assessing whether children have been harmed, minimizing the impact and repercussions to children who are present, and empowering children within the process as much as possible.

C2: The ACE Study and its Implications for Public Health in Primary Care Practice

Dr. Michael Brumage

The most influential study most people have never heard about. The Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) Study has profound effects for public health and for primary care practice. This session is intended for people interested in addressing some of the most vexing problems in public health and for staff of primary care clinics to see how to implement this knowledge in a primary care setting.

C3: Dead Reckoning

Cpl. Tony Craigo, Sharon Hesse, Gail Kahle, Sarah Kingston

Domestic violence is prevalent in families with children. Unfortunately, it can also be lethal for both adults and children. Learn about research-based indicators of domestic violence offenders that can help professionals identify offenders who are more likely to kill their family members. This session will provide a WV based model for identifying highly dangerous/potentially lethal offenders and providing a heightened response to increase safety of victims and decrease dangerousness of offenders.

C4: Who Knew the Lady and Gent Next Door?

Dr. Lawrence J. Simons

This session will address the not so obvious and recognizable situations where offenders can exploit children. Offender characteristics, grooming, and warning signs will be explored along with interview strategies and myths about female sex offenders.

C5: Why Won't My Mommy Wake Up?

Jill MacFarlane

Answering hard questions from children experiencing trauma or grief. In this session, we will dive into hard topics to talk to children about. Children understand and process experiences in a different way. Learn techniques to talk to them in a developmentally appropriate and supportive way, so they can begin to understand and process the experiences they have endured.

C6: Naloxone: The Partnership of Law Enforcement and Public Health

Lt. Patrick Glynn

There is misinformation and a lack of information for the public to make an informed decision in regards to Naloxone. Lt. Glynn will discuss the partnership of law enforcement and mental health as it pertains to methods to reduce opioid fatal and non-fatal overdoses. He will examine the increase of fatal opioid overdoses throughout the country.

D1: When Trauma Comes to School

Kathy Szafran

This session will focus on how trauma “shows up” at school and in the classroom. What is the distinction between a triggered child and a child that is misbehaving? Children suffering from chronic stress develop behaviors that help manage their emotions, but that can also interfere with their ability to learn and function in the classroom.

D2: Maternal Substance Abuse: The OB Perspective

Dr. David Chaffin

This session describes the evolution of a pregnancy-related addiction epidemic, the medical responses to the problem, and the outcomes of those strategies. Lessons learned and unlearned will be shared. Warning: better ideas will be actively solicited from the audience.

D3: Survivor’s Ink. (Part 1)

Sgt. Talia Divita, Brian Morris, and Jennifer Kempton

This session will provide a basic education of human trafficking including the definition of: what it is/what it is not, statistics, victim identification, the manipulation tactics of traffickers, and interviewing victims of human trafficking. A victim perspective will be included to share her experience on how her childhood trauma that was left untreated made her vulnerable to falling prey to a trafficker. The survivor’s story will include her efforts at helping other victims through her organization, Survivor’s Ink.

D4: Drug Related Deaths: Investigation, Prosecution & Review Strategies

Patricia Daugherty

This session will equip attendees with tools to identify the source of the fatal drug, including how to “work up the chain” of distribution to target higher-level drug suppliers. Topics will include building prosecutable cases, death-scene investigation techniques, investigative court orders, cellular telephone records, interview techniques, toxicology, use of confidential informants, and strategies for presenting these cases in court. Several case studies will demonstrate how to use these tools together successfully.

D5: Suicide Safe: Recognition and Response

Barri Faucett & Patrick Tenney

In this session, attendees will be introduced to the most recent data concerning suicide in specific high-risk populations; critical assessment parameters of the recognition of at-risk individuals; dialogue on how to identify and refer at-risk individuals; and Apps relevant to prevention and intervention efforts for both at-risk individuals and providers. The purpose of the session is to increase the willingness and capability of participants to interact with at-risk individuals in providing for appropriate dialogue and a wide array of resources pertinent to suicide prevention and intervention and mental health promotion.

D6: Harm Reduction Strategies

Dr. Michael Brumage and Dr. Michael Kilkenny

Doctors Brumage and Kilkenny will discuss their two comprehensive Harm Reduction Programs for IV Drug Users. Program experiences, data, and observations will be shared. Key community partnerships will be described and the relationships between childhood trauma and addiction will be explored.

E1: The Therapist is IN

Felicia Bush and Megan Lyon

This session will clarify the roles of the school counselor (social worker, psychologist) and the mental health practitioner as they work together to provide trauma-informed therapeutic services in a school based setting. Proven practices, interventions, and activities will be demonstrated to facilitate immediate integration into your Handle with Care school program.

E2: Effects of Intrauterine Substance Exposure on Newborns

Dr. Stefan Maxwell

Infants who are exposed to substances in utero are at a significantly higher risk of experiencing serious health problems, including prematurity, low birthweight, respiratory problems, and neonatal abstinence syndrome (NAS). Dr. Maxwell will discuss the causes and symptomatology of intrauterine exposure and neonatal withdrawal. This session also will highlight: problems with accurately assessing the number of babies affected by maternal substance use; difficulties determining how much they cost the health care system; and what the State is doing to address these problems and improve care for this population.

E3: Survivor's Ink. (Part 2)

Sgt. Talia Divita, Brian Morris, & Jennifer Kempton

This session will provide a basic education of human trafficking including the definition of: what it is/what it is not, statistics, victim identification, the manipulation tactics of traffickers, and interviewing victims of human trafficking. A victim perspective will be included to share her experience on how her childhood trauma that was left untreated made her vulnerable to falling prey to a trafficker. The survivor's story will include her efforts at helping other victims through her organization, Survivor's Ink.

E4: Investigation & Prosecution of Child Fatalities

Maryclaire Akers

This session will focus on practical implications in both the investigative and trial processes in prosecuting child fatalities. Ms. Akers will encourage a team approach to successfully prosecute perpetrators of child abuse.

E5: What First Responders Need to Know About Autism

Erin Lash

Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) is a complex neurological disorder that affects the functioning of the brain and can profoundly impact how the individual interacts with the world. In this sessions participants will become familiar with the characteristics of autism, be familiar with how not to misinterpret the characteristics of autism, and be familiar with strategies to create positive encounters with individuals with autism.

E6: A Drug Court Odyssey

Judge Derek Swope

One Drug Court Judge's story of the triumphs, tragedies, successes, and failures, laughter, and tears, chronicling the course of a drug court from its conception through inception and on-going operation.

F1: Project AWARE, Safe at Home, Handle with Care

Jackie Payne, Lisa McMullen, Andrea Darr

Handle with Care identifies children most at risk and alerts schools and mental health providers to respond in a trauma sensitive way. Safe at home ensures youth remain in their communities whenever safely possible by providing wrap around services to meet the child's needs. Project AWARE is working to increase mental health awareness and access to services for children, families, and communities through the Department of Education. This session will give you a better understanding of how these programs work in WV and how they are making a difference in the lives of children.

F2: Medical Advocacy in Child Abuse Cases in WV

Grace Stewart and Caitlin Smith

This session will give an overview of the importance of medical care in child abuse cases, the circumstances and limitations of child sexual abuse medical evaluations, and the supports in place in WV to support this practice. As a head-to-toe exam, the child abuse medical evaluation is a critical opportunity to assess the child's overall health and well-being. Throughout the presentation, this holistic approach will be discussed as a cornerstone of the appropriate MDT medical response.

F3: Reinvest West: True Rehabilitation

Cpl. Errol Randle and Cheryl Chandler

This session will highlight programs at Mt. Olive Correctional Center and the Charleston Police Department and will describe how WV is improving offender's transitions, thereby increasing public safety, reducing recidivism, and making better use of scarce resources in correctional centers and communities.

F4: Juvenile Justice Reform: Bringing Systems Together

Each presenter will give a brief description of services available for at-risk youth from their respective agencies and describe how systems are working together to build comprehensive interventions. The panel will discuss evidence-based and evidence informed strategies and programs. Panel members will include leaders from community-based, shelter care, DHHR, probation, drug courts and the Division of Juvenile Services.

F5: Abuse & Neglect in the Disabilities Population (Part 1)

Dr. Scott Modell

The participants in this session will develop a broader understanding of children with disabilities as well as new strategies for effective interviewing and communicating. Video clips of real individuals with disabilities are integrated into the presentation to maximize the effectiveness of the training. (This is a two-part session.)

F6: Emerging Drug Trends (repeat)

Sgt. Courtney Pero

Attendees will be provided information on synthetic cannabinoids, synthetic cathinones, and synthetic hallucinogens. Specific drug trends, legislation, and drug slang terms from across the country will be discussed. In addition, attendees will receive information on other trends (including Butane Hash Oil and THC extraction) as well as the resurgence of Heroin, GHB and other illicit substances. This session will include information on the abuse of these substances by juveniles themselves along with the potential for more incapacitated caregivers, which could result in more ignored, abused, and abandoned children.

G1: Yoga for Trauma

Debora Mattingly

In this session you will explore firsthand how a yoga class can be adapted for people of all ages dealing with the effects of trauma. A brief discussion will inform participants about the evidence-based successes of yoga for people dealing with PTSD, whether from war experiences, chronic abuse, or accidents. A gentle yoga class will follow to allow participants to experience moving into various yoga forms guided by trauma sensitive language. Participants should wear comfortable clothing they can move in. This class will be from a chair and standing; no mats necessary. There will be no physical assists.

G1: Judicious use of psychotropic medication in children

Dr. Melissa Albert

With the increasing use of psychotropic medications for children and adolescents, Dr. Albert will discuss appropriate prescribing in the setting of trauma. Survivors of trauma are often instead diagnosed, with bipolar disorder, ADHD, and oppositional defiant disorder. This workshop will cover sources of “over-prescribing” including invalid diagnoses and overlooked comorbidities. These situations often create high dose, ineffective treatment. She will discuss how proper treatment works in conjunction with traditional therapeutic models.

G3: Invisible Shackles

Trudi Blaylock & Lt. Mark Davis

One in six endangered runaways reported to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in 2013 were likely sex trafficking victims. Victims of child sex trafficking often do not recognize themselves as being victims and first responders often do not recognize their victimization at first glance. This session will cover risk factors, venues for trafficking, network characteristics, trafficking indicators, victim identification, and specialized interviews with potential victims. Special attention will be placed on the recruitment of child victims in juvenile facilities.

G4: Preparing Children to Testify

Shannon Johnson

Preparing and prosecuting cases is difficult enough without having the challenge of a child being your star witness. The competency of a child offered as a witness involves his mentality and moral maturity, having special regard to the understanding of the nature of the oath, and the consequences of false swearing, while being mindful about further trauma to the child. This segment highlights the challenges of the child witness and how to tackle those challenges.

G5: Abuse & Neglect in the Disabilities Population (Part 2)

Dr. Scott Modell

The participants in this session will develop a broader understanding of children with disabilities as well as new strategies for effective interviewing and communicating. Video clips of real individuals with disabilities are integrated into the presentation to maximize the effectiveness of the training. (This is a two-part session.)

G6: The Heroin Epidemic in WV

Jan Rader

The City of Huntington, WV, and the surrounding areas are experiencing one of the highest rates of heroin addiction in the country. In this session, you will learn how we got here. You will also learn what one community is doing to address the problem.

Speaker Biographies

Melissa Albert, MD

Dr. Melissa Albert hails from Clarksburg, WV. She and her family have recently relocated to the Charleston area to become a part of PSIMED's team of mental health providers. She is a graduate of West Virginia University for both her undergraduate and School of Medicine degrees. Her undergraduate years focused on volunteer work with Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity, and she was elected to the student Board of Governors. Following medical school, she completed residency training in Pediatrics at Wright State University in Dayton, OH. While there received awards in teaching. She returned to West Virginia to pursue training in psychiatry to be better equipped to help children and adolescents navigate through mental anguish and illness. She completed residency training in Psychiatry at West Virginia University and served her final year as chief resident. Now being board certified in both Psychiatry and Pediatrics, she has provided pediatric and adult psychiatric care for over 10 years. She has served as the consulting psychiatrist for the WVUH Children's Hospital for nearly five years. Most recently she comes from an outpatient clinic serving the rural population of southwestern Pennsylvania. She believes in partnering with patients and families to take a team approach to recovery.

Maryclaire Akers

Mrs. Akers has been a practicing attorney for close to 17 years in West Virginia. Almost fifteen years of that time she has served as an Assistant and Senior Assistant Prosecutor for Kanawha County in various capacities. During that time, she also worked as a Special Assistant United States Attorney in the Southern District of West Virginia. Dr. David Chaffin is facing a hidden epidemic of opiate addiction during pregnancy. Based on a study in 2009, approximately 20% of women delivering in the state have been exposed to either illicit drugs or alcohol and the rate today is even higher. Taking care of these women is challenging, and optimizing the outcomes for them and their neonates is the goal of the MARC. While methadone maintenance remains the gold standard of therapy, recent data published in the New England Journal of Medicine suggests that maintenance therapy with buprenorphine (Subutex) results in neonates that spend less time in the intensive care nursery and milder withdrawal symptoms. Access to buprenorphine therapy during pregnancy has been limited at best. In an attempt to improve access, the Department of OB/GYN at the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine at Marshall University, with the help of a generous grant from Carelink Health Plans, Inc., instituted the Maternal Addiction and Recovery Center under the direction of Dr. Chaffin and Louis Nieuwenhuizen, Psy.D., adult psychologist and addictions counselor. Opiate addicted pregnant patients will receive the highest quality pregnancy care, regular addiction counseling in both group and individual settings as well as buprenorphine maintenance therapy in one clinical location.

David Chaffin, M.D. is the director of the Maternal Addiction & Recovery Center at the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine at Marshall University. West Virginia
